

Here at Quigg Golden, we are passionate about the construction and procurement sectors and regularly publish updates on industry and legal developments. Our aim is to inform the wider construction and procurement communities on crucial issues affecting the industry, whilst offering our expert opinion, support and advice.

2021 has seen us publish an array of articles, from “VAT Reverse Charge on Construction Services” to “A step forward for adjudication in Ireland” and for the last #TalkingPointTuesdays of the year, we are highlighting the work our industry experts have produced throughout the year:

Click on each topic to view the publication

Hot off the press – Adjudicator’s decision enforced in Ireland

VAT Reverse Charge on Construction Services

Quigg Golden joins forces with Belfast solicitors Edwards and Co

Condition Precedents in Construction Contracts

Late and Terminated – Liquidated Damages Stop

Sustainable Procurement – A Better Future

Collateral Warranties & Construction Contracts

The Material Shortage Crisis – How to Plan During These Uncertain Times

Liquidated & Ascertained Damages – 2021 Update

Recent Court Judgement Decides Employer Cannot Circumvent Payment Rules

Post-Brexit Challenges to Procurement Processes – Fair and Fast

A step forward for adjudication in Ireland

Insolvent Companies Can Adjudicate

Getting Paid Under your Construction Contract

View all publications here

We welcome and encourage your views, so let us know your thoughts in the comments.

Quigg Golden would like to thank everyone who has read our articles throughout 2021. With the industry constantly evolving, Quigg Golden will continue to react and publish many more relevant articles throughout 2022 on these crucial issues, so connect with us on our LinkedIn page, follow us on Twitter or read these on our website.

For any queries, please contact Quigg Golden here, give us a call, or chat with one of the team via Tawk (on our website).